

CHARLIE THE CHOCOLATE CHAMPION

Although Charlie Bucket is an extremely deprived young boy (who lives in a house where the roof is falling down) he still managed to win the very last golden ticket! Yesterday the lucky boy Charlie, found 50p on the street-he used the money to buy one of Willy Wonka's fabulous chocolate bars, where he found the ticket that everyone in the world was praying for. A witness on the street said that she heard Charlie shouting to his mother that he had just got the last golden ticket! Charlie dashed into his broken house on Shipway road.

Finally, the search is over! All five of Willy Wonka's amazing golden tickets have been found-the five lucky winners: Augustus Gloop, Veruca Salt, Violet Beauregard, Mike Teevee and Charlie Bucket. Unsurprisingly, the first winner, Augustus Gloop is a chocoholic who consumes about four-hundred bars a day!! "He eats so many chocolate bars day, it was almost impossible for him NOT to find one!" said Mrs Gloop. Next to have found a ticket, was a spoilt little girl called Veruca Salt .Mr Salt, a multi-millionaire owner of a nut company responded to his daughters demand for a golden ticket by telling his workers to "I want you to stop shelling nuts, and start unwrapping these chocolate bars."

Apparently, nothing turned up for a week and during that time; Veruca threw the most terrible tantrums.

Luckily, for Mr and Mrs Salt they eventually established the second golden ticket.

However, Veruca was very ungrateful and calmly demanded for another pony.

Violet is not a chocoholic and dose not have a dad who is an owner of a nut company. Violet is a karate gum chewer!

Recently Violet broke the world record for the most gum chewed. "When I heard about these golden tickets, I started to have chocolate bars. You know this special prize, I'm gonna win it because I'm a WINNER!" she boasted.

However Mike Teevee is not like any of the others, as he only bought one chocolate bar. He would rather play on his game console. I hate chocolate he grumbled (unlike the overjoyed Charlie)

Unfortunately, Charlie doesn't have the luxury of just getting what he wants. He lives with his four grandparents along with his mother and father. In there house they have one room downstairs, and one room upstairs. Downstairs, his grandparents sleep in a double bed, head to toe. Charlie sleeps upstairs where the roof is disappearing. However, he still managed to win a legendary golden ticket!

Amazingly, Charlie Bucket managed to receive a phenomenally rare trip to Willy Wonka's fantastic chocolate factory! Luckily, Charlie found fifty pence piece lying on the street on the thirty-first of January and went to the local newsagents where he bought a chocolate bar... He opened it. Then he saw the golden colour shimmering half under the wrapper. "I'll pay you fifty pounds for that ticket and a new bike for that ticket!" said a man who was in the shop. "Leave the boy alone! Go home now and don't give that ticket to anyone." The shopkeeper told Charlie. However that wasn't Charlie's first attempt, he had tried twice before. On his birthday, Charlie had been given a chocolate bar for his birthday present. Sadly, for Charlie it didn't come. His second attempt was when Grandpa Joe gave Charlie fifty pence and told him to run to the nearest shop he could find and buy the first bar he saw. Again, nothing came. Despite the sadness in Charlie's heart, (after only three attempts) won one of Willy Wonka's amazing golden tickets!!

As Charlie saw the shiny ticket, he face became full of excitement. A neighbour said she heard Charlie screaming to his mother, "The last golden ticket has been found! It's mine!" His family were shocked when Charlie revealed the ticket from behind his back especially Grandpa Joe (who jumped out of bed-spectacular as he hadn't been out of bed for years). However Charlie had other ideas and thought that they needed the money more than the chocolate. Finally Charlie decided he was wrong and told his family that he was wrong and that he was going to the factory!

All five of Wonka's tickets have been found! But who will win the big prize?
