

Charlie the choco champ!

Today the very last golden phenomenon has been found! Despite being one of the poorest families, however they have kept the golden ticket! They have not gone for the money. Do you think that is the right choice? The shopkeeper stated "I am so happy for the kid, and I can't believe it was in my shop too!" Charlie lives in a collapsing house with his family. He lives with his mom, dad, Grandpa Joe, Grandma Georgina, Grandpa George and Grandma Josephine.

Until yesterday there were only 3 winners however, Mike Teevee aged 11 got the 4th ticket. Mike squealed "I brought one chocolate bar and I got the golden ticket, although I hate chocolate!" He does not deserve to get the ticket as well as he doesn't even like chocolate explained anonymous. There is only one ticket left could you be the one who gets the final golden ticket. There is loads of people that really want this ultimate ticket!

Charlie Bucket a aged 11 and lives in a tiny, crumbling house.

Despite living with his four grandparents and his mum and dad, he is always grateful for what he gets.

Whenever, they have dinner it is always same old cabbage soup. Somehow they still survive with what they get! Sadly, all the grandparents share the same bed as well as this; they don't even get out of it because they are very old! Charlie goes to Old Mill Secondary School. His dad, Mr Bucket, used to work at the toothpaste factory until; a machine took over his job.

When, it was Charlie's birthday he got a chocolate bar because that was all they could afford.

Sadly, it didn't have a golden ticket in.

Although, he gave up the search, but Grandpa Joe hadn't.

So, when Charlie came back from school Grandpa Joe gave him the last of his savings. He whispered to Charlie "go and get a chocolate bar son, I think you will be lucky and come straight back!" unfortunately, they were unlucky and they didn't win the ticket. Walking home after his school day he something glittering in the snow. As soon as he picked he ran to the nearest shop and this time he was victorious but the eyewitness asked him "I'll give you £50 and a brand new bike for that golden ticket of yours however Charlie ran straight home!"

Charlie was so excited he was screaming "I've got Wonka's last golden ticket, WAHHOO!" but he wanted to sell it for money and told his family "We need the money more than the chocolate." They decided to keep it and Grandpa Joe a former worker for Willy Wonka is going to accompany him over Charlie's journey.

Finally the search is over, the last ticket has been found! The lucky winners in order are Augustus Gloop, Veruca salt, Violet Beauregard, Mike Teevee and Charlie Bucket. We look forward to speaking to the grand prize winner, after the event!
