

He stated " I'm not going. We need the money more than the chocolate."

"It's up to you Charlie..."
His family whispered as he stalked out the room...

Unexpectedly, young Charlie Bucket, a very poor, generous, heart-warming boy from London won the last golden ticket. Charlie, the fifth golden ticket winner, really does deserve this once in a lifetime opportunity to visit Mr Wonka's factory- but will he take the money... or the chocolate...

By Charlotte Leach
and Sarah Russell

In the next issue...

- Interviews with the five winners
 - Charlie Buckets Decision
 - The final winner
 - The final prize
- It all ends....
HERE!

All five winners.