

CHARLIE BUCKETS THE CHOCOLATE

As the competition comes to an end, the lucky Charlie Bucket achieves the final golden ticket, shortly after finding a one dollar note in the street. This boy is definitely celebrating as we speak. The passionate Charlie found the glory yesterday in Southern America while walking home from school. I guess it's just fate as there is no possible explanation to how he found the last golden opportunity.

Charlie Bucket is described as a gifted, young boy, who loves to be considerate and imaginative, living in an uncomfortable two roomed cottage that he struggles to live in. His family is well away from being well off due to his father recently losing his job at the toothpaste factory. Apparently, he claimed to have attempted many times but failed miserably before discovering the glorious one dollar note on the arctic pavement.

A source, who wishes to remain anonymous, has told us that they think that Charlie is an anxious being, supposedly too young to handle the sweet, melting taste in his mouth but are they just jealous? Even though it was said that most think he deserves the opportunity. His four Grandparents have informed to us that his birthday had just been and was once again unsuccessful to receive the golden glory. But how he did it... luck!! The poor boy was quoted saying: "I found it, Mother! The last golden ticket! And it's all mine!" After he rapidly dashed home.

Charlie has found the last, heavenly golden opportunity!

Witnesses reported to us that they were coming out with negative comments like: "Twenty bars a day I've been buying for weeks and weeks! But how has he managed to find the last one?!" said one very jealous boy "He'll need the food, the skinny little shrimp!" said yet another girl. Supposedly men and women, boys and girls were rapidly crowding around him and offering Charlie over 500 dollars for the golden ticket he successfully discovered!!

Generally, Charlie bucket is apparently known to always be a winner no matter what says his family and friends, who were supporting him along the way. The cashier/shopkeeper was reported to have said that he was very excited to find out that the very last golden ticket had been found in his now legendary shop. Charlie will now join the four other winners ... Veruca Salt, Mike Teevee, Violet Beauregard and Augustus Gloop. Who will win the divine prize...?

Reported by Isabelle Lee

The legendary factory runner standing outside his very well-known chocolate factory about to welcome the lucky ticket winners.