

BUCKET GET'S GOLDEN LUCK

As Wonka's competition comes to an end, Master Bucket bags the last golden ticket, thanks to some good luck! The lucky Londoner grabbed the ticket yesterday after finding 50p and his dream inside the shop .He reported that he was over the moon and it was only his fourth try.

The Buckets lived in a run down house on the out skirts of London next to the factory. Even though they couldn't afford anything since Mr Bucket lost his job, they still have a bucket of luck let alone the golden ticket.

Charlie said with pride "I found a 50p on the floor so I sprinted towards the newsagents to taste the phenomenal chocolate.

As moment of glory came I tore the wrapper like a tiger pouncing on its prey." Then he saw the glint of gold, Charlie who screamed with shock ran home at the speed of sound, amazed that he had won. reported his mum Mrs bucket aged 40.

Charlie with ticket

A source who wishes to remain anonymous said that he does not deserve it because he doesn't want the prize; he wants the money. This is not right.

As a result chocolate sales have gone down rapidly now everyone is trying to buy the ticket Instead .Offers of 10,000 pounds has been made. This is a record for buying a piece of paper! Granddad Joe explained "Charlie was going to sell it but I made him changed his mind and it's a life time opportunity and Charlie is a lovely lad. He deserved the treat! It is a dream come true."

The five that are going to the factory are Gugstus Gloop, veruca salt, mike teavee, violet beregaurd So Charlie will join them at the factory. Who knows what would happen in the factory?
