

Willy Wonka Wins Again

Golden ticket in
Augustus Gloop's hand

On the 31st of January a boy, in London, called Charlie Bucket found the last golden ticket. He was very lucky to find the last golden ticket. A boy shouted angrily "How did HE manage to find it .I've been buying bars of chocolates 20 times a day for weeks".

The previous winners were Augustus Gloop, an old man rudely quoted "His a chubby fat boy", and Veruca Salt a woman had something to say "a spoilt, greedy, little pig like brat". There was Violet Beauregard a man had said "Yuk, gum, it should have gone mouldy by now", Mike Teevee was the fourth winner Molly King said "to Teevee mad, going to have to where glasses".

unwelcoming house. There is one bed that the four grandparent's sleep in. Mr. Bucket Mrs. Bucket and Charlie Bucket all sleep on. It isn't so bad in the summer but in the winter strokes of freezing draughts blow throughout the house and sweep the, rugged blanket of them.

He was walking from school and he spotted a whole fifty pence, he rushed to the nearest corner shop. Charlie asked for a Wonka's wipple scrumptious fudge mallow delight. He then asked for another one .suddenly what was this. It was the last golden ticket.

Charlie got home at last his whole family gathered in the living room to see if it was real. "We must sell it for money" Charlie had stated. "Charlie money is made every day, this ticket is a once in a life time chance." His grandpa had shouted." Are you dumb or not. So what what will happen next? Will Charlie SELL the ticket? We don't know. Good luck!!
