

Two bars, one ticket

The amazing tickets

Since, the extraordinary announcement of the five lucky tickets by the well known Willy Wonker.

Four lucky winners have already found the tickets but there is still one ticket scattered around the world causing chaos around the globe there has been problems from riots in Australia new Zealand, France and Spain even the queen has ordered six chocolate bars a day.

As, Augustus gloo, Veruca salt, violat Beaugard, Mike Tevee, who will be the last finder.

Surprisingly, a poor child named Charlie Bucket found a pound lying on the floor in the powerful snow. he did not know a Russian child had said he found the ticket but he had made a fake ticket to fool everyone who tried finding the ticket. Charlie went to the nearest retail store and bought one of the Wonk's Whipple scrumptious fudge mallow deghlite and that left him with five pounds left for himself. When he found the proper chocolate bars sadly he didn't get a ticket in the first bar but then bought another.

People already tried to bribe him £400.00 for it. When he go home , It was a decision between the money or the ticket he said." people get money everyday only dummies would sell a once in a lifetime opportunity ,are you a dummy "said grandpa Joe.

Charlie is a grateful person, so he did what everyone told him to, he's teacher said "Charlie is not a bad person and not a spoilt person he cares for people around him"

Reported by George Brown

Charlie the good boy